Change of Agency process:

- If the QAA items remain the same, no work has begun and only the agency is changing (using multiple firms or adding/removing firms), please email the change with the name of the new agency and the permit number(s) affected to QAA@lasvegasnevada.gov. Please include your contact name and phone number in case there are any questions. Changes to the QAA items will be updated by the Permit Technician and an email will be sent when it's completed and the new agency selection can be viewed on our website. Please note that there is an administrative fee ($55.00) charged for this request and it will be added to the permit.
- If the QAA items remain the same and agency is changing after the permit has been issued and/or work has begun then the following is required:
 1. Owner: The owner/representative must submit a request to Building & Safety (B&S) to change the QAA special inspection agreement containing:
 - ❖ A letter stating who will be performing the special inspection activities, the current status of the project, and when the change will occur.
 - ❖ If the original prime agency has not performed any inspections. The new prime agency must provide a letter detailing the current status of the project, the special inspection services to be performed, and the projected start date.
 - ❖ If the original prime agency has performed inspections, two copies of a report with exhibits and relevant information must be submitted on what inspections were conducted and any outstanding NCR's. The new prime agency must also submit two copies of a report outlining which portions of the project they are responsible for performing special inspection services.

When the owner wishes to change prime agencies during the course of construction all construction work requiring special inspection must cease until the QAA agency change has been accepted by B&S staff.

2. Once all steps have been completed, the customer will be contacted to sign and complete the new agreement. The "QAA Ready" notice will be sent to the project contacts for the QAA Agreement to be signed and the notice will also be shown on our website under Plan Check status. Please note that there is an administrative fee ($55.00) charged for this request and it will be added to the permit.
